First Land Utilisation : County reports

The Land of Britain, the report of the Land Utilisation Survey of Britain is in 92 parts, one for each administrative county in England, Wales and Scotland. The parts vary in length from 40 to 200 pages. Each report is written by a local specialist and gives an outline of the physical background of the county plus detailed analysis of the land use in town and city. Excellent background material for local historians.

The first ten orders will also receive a copy of The Land Utilisation Survey of Britain : an outline description of the first twelve one-inch maps by L. Dudley Stamp and E.C. Willatts.

Our stock is listed on our website, where we are offering a 40% discount to members for a limited period. Carriage paid.

WW2 German town plans of England and Wales from Operation Sea Lion

In preparing for the invasion of Great Britain (Operation Sea Lion), a vast amount of information, including maps and photographs, was assembled by the German military.

This included enlarging Ordnance Survey six-inch maps of important towns to 1:10,000, and overprinting the new brown base map with coloured symbols showing sites of military significance such as airports, railway workshops, docks, bridges. Sheet size is usually 18.5" by 12.5 inches, with larger combined sheets showing some towns on a single sheet. Folded to roughly A4 size.

Our stock is illustrated on our website, where we are offering a 40% discount to members for a limited period. Carriage paid.
